

Intense Algiers Fighting

Terrorists Harassment Stepped Up

ALGIERS (AP) — Secret army terrorists attacked a French riot police barracks in Algiers at dawn today, firing rockets and machine guns for 15 minutes at the big building.

Riot police quartered in the building returned the European terrorists' fire. Hundreds of residents of the area watched from their windows as rockets exploded and guns cracked.

There was no immediate information on casualties in the attack.

Elsewhere in Algiers, terrorists had killed four Moslems, including a major in the French army, and wounded five before noon. Three Europeans were wounded by gunfire.

French and Algerian rebel officials went into their second week of formal peace talks at Evian, on the French-Swiss border. Important hurdles were reported still blocking a cease-fire in Algeria.

After nearly nine hours of discussion Tuesday, the two delegations were still at odds over the makeup of a provisional government to administer Algeria between a cease-fire and full independence, and on the role of Algerian rebel troops in future action against the Secret Army Organization, terrorist organization of right-wing Europeans.

Both sides still predicted they would eventually reach full agreement.

Informants said the conference spent much time in a discussion of the persons to fill the seats on a 12-man provisional executive. Several names were advanced from both sides without winning approval.

Farm Job Placement Men Named

Leon M. Hall, manager of the State Employment Office, said today that Jim Wiley, Hughesville, W. C. Jones, LaMonte, and L. D. Hoehns, Smithton, have agreed to serve as volunteer Farm Placement representatives in their respective communities.

In this capacity these representatives will record the names of workers available for temporary or permanent farm jobs and information regarding the needs of farm operators for farm labor. Orders for farm workers will be filled from the list of available workers.

Volunteer Farm Placement representatives serve without pay and as a public service to farm operators and unemployed farm workers in their communities. Hall explained that each local employment office is responsible for recruiting and placement of farm labor in much the same manner as industrial workers are recruited and sent to jobs.

Any worker who is available for temporary or permanent farm work should register at the employment office or to leave his name with the volunteer Farm Placement representatives in his community, and farmers in need of labor should request the assistance of the employment office or a volunteer representative. Every effort will be made to obtain workers who can best fill the requirements of each individual farmer.

The movement of experienced farm hands to factory jobs continues and in 1962 farm labor is again expected to be tight in nearly all agricultural communities. Volunteer Farm Placement representatives provides a means for obtaining farm labor in many communities where farmers are having difficulty in getting help.

The Employment Service office in Sedalia is located at 215 East Fifth Street.

Correct a Mistake On Painting Buses

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Mississippi's House of Representatives had to amend a bill requiring that school buses sold for other uses must be painted a color other than yellow.

The original bill provided that the owners and operators should be painted, instead of the buses.

SNOW BLASTS MIDWEST — Resident of Duluth, Minn., clears drifted snow from around his house. Snows driven by high winds buried cars, closed highways and stranded motorists in large areas of the plains states. (NEA Telephoto)

Effects Widespread

Snows Tapering Off In Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snows appeared tapering off across the snow-clogged sections of the Midwest and Northeast today but the effects of the late-winter storm were widespread.

One of the major jobs in the snow belt covering the Dakotas, Nebraska, Iowa and Minnesota was clearing roads and highways blocked by the wind-whipped snow. Hundreds of schools have been closed. Some towns were virtually isolated. An undetermined number of motorists were stranded.

Crews in northeast and central Nebraska worked during the night opening up roads. Some highways in the northeast section were covered by 14-foot drifts. Crews reached a broken power line in the Ord area and supplied electricity to most of the 100 farm homes at David Creek which had been without power since Monday.

Nearly 60 motorists, including truck drivers, have been marooned since Monday night in the little town of Galva, Iowa. Heavy snow on U.S. Highway 20 in northwest Iowa halted the motorists. Many were provided rooms by townspeople. Others stayed at the American Legion hall in the town of 500 some 50 miles east of Sioux City.

A New York stage company of 28 headed by actresses Eva Le Gallienne and Faye Emerson planned to leave Mountain Lake, a small town in southwestern Minnesota where they had been marooned since Monday by deep snow. The troupe was to continue its chartered bus trip after highways were cleared, heading for an engagement in Texarkana, Ark., Thursday night.

Light snow and flurries continued during the night and early morning from the eastern edge of the northern and central plains states eastward through the Great Lakes region, the Ohio Valley and the northern Appalachians into New England.

A storm dumped 20 inches of snow on Moose Mountain in Brookfield, N.H., and Middlebury, Vt., Tuesday. The storm disrupted power and telephone service in some areas.

Committee Approves Expansion for Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to expand the Peace Corps to 10,000 volunteers at home and abroad has been approved by the House Foreign Affairs Committee. The measure approved Thursday authorizes an appropriation of $63,750,000 for the year starting next July 1. That's the full amount asked by President Kennedy.

Bill Hikes Ceiling

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has signed a bill increasing the temporary national debt ceiling to $300 billion, a boost of $2 billion.

Little Hope for Test Ban At Disarmament Meeting

Negotiations Are First Since 1960 Breakdown

GENEVA (AP) — For the first time in almost two years Russia and the Western Allies started a new round of disarmament negotiations today with some hope of restricting but much less hope of stopping the nuclear arms race.

The 17-nation U.N. disarmament met at the Palace of Nations in late afternoon for a ceremonial session. The last big disarmament conference broke down in 1960.

Senate Seat Sought By Ed Kennedy

Youngest Brother Of the President Throws Out Hat

BOSTON (AP) — Edward M. Kennedy, youngest brother of President Kennedy, announced today, as expected, that he will seek election to the Senate seat his brother held before winning the presidency.

Kennedy will run for the Democratic nomination in a double test—for the party convention endorsement in June, and in the September primary.

Already in the contest is Massachusetts Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr., a nephew of House Speaker John W. McCormack.

The seat now is held by Sen. Benjamin A. Smith who does not seek return to the Senate for the two years remaining in the term. The clash of McCormack and Kennedy forces, powerful Massachusetts clans, should give the state its most intensive Democratic skirmishing in years.

Present candidates for the Republican nomination are George Cabot Lodge and U.S. Rep. Laurence Curtis.

Lodge is the son of Henry Cabot Lodge, former U.S. ambassador to the United Nations and senator from Massachusetts before President Kennedy wrested the seat from him in 1952.

Candidate Kennedy, now an assistant district attorney in Boston, reached the 30-year minimum age for a senator only last month. McCormack is 38.

Kennedy is the youngest of his family, and at 6 feet 2 inches is the tallest. This is his first try for elective public office.

Toothbrush Essential Woman Says; Red, Green or Blue Laws

The sister-in-law of a well-known Sedalian arrived in town early Sunday morning. Her luggage was late in arriving, and the sister-in-law was without a toothbrush.

Being an ex-Sedalian, the sister-in-law said she would just drop by a local drug store and pick up a toothbrush.

At the drug store she was greeted with numerous signs, indicating certain items were not for sale on Sunday. The toothbrushes were among the banned items.

She tried to explain to the druggist that a toothbrush is a necessary item. The druggist stuck to his guns on Missouri blue laws.

"Blue, green or red, I don't care what color the law is, I still need a toothbrush," the lady exclaimed as she stalked out.

The delegates, including U. S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, heard the resumption of negotiations hailed as signaling in itself an easing of East-West tensions.

American sources said just before the session opened that the Western powers and Russia might be able to negotiate an agreement to block the spread of nuclear weapons and thus begin to bring the arms race under control.

Western officials saw little prospect of agreements in coming months, however, which would halt the manufacture of nuclear weapons.

The outlook is dim, too, for stopping nuclear weapons testing. In both cases, officials said, the apparently insuperable barrier is Russia's unwillingness to open up its territory to international inspection.

The official goal of the new U.N.-sponsored conference in the Palace of Nations was an all-embracing treaty for general and complete disarmament. But the Western powers regarded such a treaty as an ideal which cannot be achieved in the present state of East-West relations.

The United States and Britain went into the conference with objectives far short of a blanket commitment to total disarmament. The two big Western powers hoped the conference might achieve:

1. An accord with the Soviet Union to stop the spread of nuclear weapons—and the know-how for their manufacture—to countries which do not possess them.

2. An East-West non-aggression pact between the North Atlantic and Communist Warsaw alliances.

3. Measures to guard against surprise attack, including possibly zones of international inspection along the cold war frontiers that could be pilot projects for future disarmament inspection.

Agreement on these disarmament preliminaries could clear the way for the summit conference—possibly in the spring—that Soviet Premier Khrushchev is anxious to arrange. The Western powers believe such limited agreements would provide a start toward building confidence between the West and the Communist world and thus lay the groundwork for actual disarmament measures.

The 17 conference nations include nine veterans of previous disarmament negotiations and eight neutral nations joining the hitherto unsuccessful talks.

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The lower house of India's Parliament today unanimously passed a bill formally incorporating Goa and the other former Portuguese enclaves into India.

Among Governor's Colonels

Set of Dishes Produces Hubub

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Missouri Governor's mansion is going to receive a new set of dishes—$4,440 worth—as a result of a project that has produced a hubub among the Governor's 600 honorary Colonels.

Mrs. John Powers of suburban Ladue, wife of one of the Colonels, solicited the money. John W. English, Democratic state chairman and sort of a chief of staff of the Colonels, protested and suggested the money be returned.

But Mrs. Powers has ordered

75 place settings of China, plus such extras as rim soups, service plates and after dinner coffees.

The dishes should be delivered in about two months, she said. It is taking a bit of time to have the Great Seal of the state of Missouri imprinted on them.

"I tried to do this out of civic pride and the kindness of my heart," Mrs. Powers said. "They really need the dishes."

Mrs. Powers solicited the money at the rate of $25 per Colonel, she said, only after mentioning the project to Gov. and Mrs. Dalton. She said both were "excited and thrilled with the whole thing."

Traditionally the honorary Colonels march in resplendent uniforms in the inaugural day parade arrange for portraits of the governor and first lady and present the Governor with a personal gift when he leaves office.

Gov. Dalton asked them to forego the personal gift for him, suggesting instead something in the nature of a scholarship fund. A committee is working on this, and English said the committee had not cleared Mrs. Powers' campaign.

English advised the Colonels last year, he said, that no fund solicitations would be authorized unless they were on his stationery and carried his signature.

School Tax Levy Vote Set April 3

Two Vacancies To Be Filled On Education Board

The Sedalia Board of Education at its regular meeting Tuesday night adopted a resolution to hold a special election along with the city election April 3.

The election is to present the annual school tax levy, and to name board members to fill the vacancies to exist when the terms of Charles (Davy) Jones and Forrest Benner expire. Neither board member is seeking reelection.

The school tax this year will be the same as last year—one dollar levied by the board under state law, and $1.37 to be voted on by the patrons of the school district.

At the beginning of the meeting a patron of the school district, whose child had been injured in a tumbling class, appeared and objected to having to pay the medical bill after the child had been injured while taking part in a regular school activity.

The board noted that the school is not responsible in cases of this nature. It was also pointed out to the complainant that insurance on children attending school has been made available, but it is the parent's responsibility to obtain and pay for the insurance.

Col. Byerts

Col. Byerts Named Base Commander

Former Texas Base Commander to Take Over Reins April 1

Headquarters Strategic Air Command has announced that Col. William E. Byerts, Jr. has been named to assume the duties of base commander at Whiteman Air Force Base effective April 1.

Colonel Byerts moves into the full colonel command position that has been occupied by Lt. Col. Alexander E. Harris, since Oct. 1961, and previously from November through December 1960.

The action stems from Air Force and SAC policy in realignment of personnel, and the transfer of Laughlin Air Force Base to Air Training Command. Col. Byerts comes from Laughlin at Del Rio, Texas, where he served as base commander.

Colonel Byerts was active in the Del Rio Rotary Club, the Boy Scout program, and participated in many community-base programs. He was instrumental in establishing a Base-Community Council at Laughlin last January.

Prior to his arrival at Laughlin, the Colonel served as Director of Operations for the 22nd Air Division at Clinton County Air Force Base, Wilmington, Ohio. He also served overseas in the Asia-Pacific Theater during World War II, and in Japan and Hawaii from 1955 to 1959.

Colonel Byerts is a graduate of the University of California. (Please turn to page 6 column 3)

Youths Held In Rash Of Burglaries

Cooperation between the sheriff's departments in counties adjacent to Pettis County, the Kansas City Police Department and the Pettis County Sheriff's department, has led to an apparent solution to the recent rash of burglaries and hubcap thefts in Sedalia.

Pettis County Sheriff Emmett Fairfax told The Democrat-Capital today that two youths being held in Benton County, one a juvenile and one 17 years old, have admitted stealing hubcaps. He said that the boys, who live in Camden County, stored the hubcaps in Benton County and that they were recovered by the Benton County sheriff.

Fairfax said that he has made arrangements with the Benton and Camden County authorities to have the hubcaps returned to the Sedalia Police Department. From the Sedalia police station the hubcaps will be returned to their rightful owners, Fairfax said. The caps were taken March 5-6.

In relation to the burglaries, two men, George S. Watson and Cecil Rhoades are being held in the Kansas City jail.

Fairfax said he would go to Kansas City this afternoon and serve Pettis County warrants on the two men, however, they are wanted elsewhere, and Pettis County will have to wait its turn to obtain custody.

Heart Fund Total At $5,100; Some Funds Still Out

Bill Jarrett, Pettis County Heart chairman, announced today that approximately $5,100 of the nearly $8,000 quota of this year's Heart Fund had been collected in Pettis County.

A majority of the business contributions are still out and all volunteer workers who have not turned in their money, are urged to do so as soon as possible.

The money can be turned in to Leon Hall at the state employment office on west Fifth Street. Hall is the treasurer of the Pettis County Heart Council.

Committee Braced for Student Movement

New 'Invasion' Of Florida

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — They're coming again. Down the roads from East, Midwest and South, college students are coming in a steady stream, like lemmings, to the beach at Lauderdale.

They're on spring vacation. They're fed up to here with ice and snow and campus rules and regulations.

They're coming to rough it on the beach at Lauderdale, under the romantic palms, the hot sun and the cool moon, far from the watchful eyes of parents and professors.

The annual invasion began Monday, when the first wave of 300 hit the beach. Soon their numbers will reach 40,000 or more.

What will they bring? More beer and sex riots like those that shook Lauderdale last year? Not if a committee headed by Dr. Clem Bininger, First Presbyterian church pastor, can prevent it.

This committee was born in the riots of last spring. It has worked hard for a year. Its goal is to prevent riots and make an artistic, as well as commercial, success of the annual student invasions.

The collegians saw the first evidence of this work today. At three places along the beach, "Hello" hospitality booths appeared. Here, students who could offer identification cards from their campuses were given plastic tags.

These tags will admit them to a huge recreation area to be opened Friday. In this area, there will be dancing every night. Students may build bonfires, sing and have barbecues.

Athletic, talent and beauty contests have been arranged for the college Joes and Janes. More events will be offered later.

"We'll just play it by ear at the start," Bininger says.

The plastic identification tags not only will admit the students to entertainments, but will screen out toughs who invaded the area last spring. They posed as students and were largely responsible for inciting the riots. Many of the 300 jailed were thrill seekers who never saw the inside of a college.

In a way, Bininger's committee is Lauderdale's conscience. Many believe the riots grew out of the city's failure to live up to its responsibilities to the young visitors.

Although many of the collegians come on a shoestring, and have to live on hamburgers and sleep in their cars to get by, the student army spends a million dollars in a few days.

Last spring, the students were 50,000 strong. No entertainment was provided for them. There were 10 boys to one girl. Out of the shortage of feminine company grew boredom, excessive drinking and finally three days of riots.

Many believe the collegians drank, caroused and finally rioted simply because they had nothing better to occupy them.

"A city that once turned its back on the kids is going to face up to its duty and have a good program for them," Bininger says. "Out of the riots, we hope to build a pleasant and successful yearly celebration."

Growing Flowers, Talk Topic

Mrs. H. C. Sammons gave an interesting and informative talk on "Growing Spring Flowers" and "What is new for 1962" at the meeting of Garden Club No. 3, held Friday, March 9, at the home of Mrs. E. J. Pflughoeft, 821 South Arlington.

Mrs. Sammons, who was presented by the program chairman, Mrs. Leslie H. Hale, mentioned the new varieties that are available, such as: roses, John Armstrong, Christian Dior, South Sea, Hawaiian and Golden Garnett; zinnias, Red Man and Old Mexico; petunias, Calipso; marigolds, Penn State, Primrose Climax and a near white marigold, Man-in-Moon.

She then read an article by Mr. Burpee suggesting the marigold as our national flower since it is a true American flower originated in the United States.

Other highlights of Mrs. Sammons' talk included suggestions as now is the time to buy and start in pots the bulbs of Caladium and tuberous begonias. Geranium slips may be started now in sand and vermiculite. Later in the spring mums may be increased by cuttings and divisions. Other flowers to consider for spring and early summer plantings were violas, asters, hemerocallis, dahlias, cannas, tuberous and peonies.

She stated if you have space in your planting for a few tomatoes to try some of the new varieties developed by the Missouri University that are adapted to our locality as M-Cross Surprise, Missouri Cross Supreme, Tom Boy and Hybrid B.

The following activities of the Garden Clubs were announced: the combined conservation meeting April 13 at the State Fair Grounds, the plant and bake sale at the home of Mrs. M. L. Edwards on April 27, and the state convention at Kirksville, May 23-25.

The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. E. J. Pflughoeft.

A dessert course was served to 13 members and one guest, Mrs. R. M. Overstreet, by Mrs. Pflughoeft and her assisting hostess, Mrs. Mary Ellis.

Actress-Singer Has Called Off Her Engagement

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress-singer Ann-Margret has called off her engagement to Beverly Hills businessman Burt Sugarman less than a month since he put a 3 1/2-carat diamond ring on her finger, her studio said Tuesday.

The 21-year-old Swedish-born performer is in New York to publicize her new film, "State Fair." The 20th Century-Fox spokesman said he understood she ended the engagement before leaving Hollywood.

Storm Alters Coastline Of Seaboard Area

NEW YORK (AP)—The Eastern seaboard coastline was altered substantially as the result of last week's storms that swept in from the Atlantic, a federal government official said Tuesday.

Capt. Lawrence Swanson, the U.S. Coast Guard and Geodetic Survey's assistant director of physical science, said some channels were filled in and others created.

A spokesman for the survey's New York district said preliminary reports indicate major shoreline changes at Westhampton, Long Island, and Long Beach, N.J.

Garden Club Five Holds March Meet

Garden Club Five met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. S. Haggard, 1213 East 16th, with Mrs. Perry L. Strole, assisting hostess. A dessert course was served to 20 members.

Mrs. William Schutt, president, presided over the meeting. Committee reports were given by the chairmen. The Council plant, daisy, and white elephant sale to be held April 27 in the back yard of Mrs. M. L. Edwards' home, was announced and members were asked to support it. The state convention in May at Kirksville, was announced and discussed. Mrs. Fred Wertz reported on the combined meeting planned for April. It will be at the State Fair Administration Building, beginning at 10 a.m., sack lunch at noon, a speaker in the morning, a tour, and closing with a workshop in the afternoon. Mrs. P. L. Strole reported on the work being done by the Junior Garden Club members.

Mrs. John V. Harris, a member of Club Five, was reported recovering nicely at Bothwell Hospital where she is a patient. A card was signed for her by all the members present.

The exhibits committee announced the awards: exhibit, "The Woods Are Alive," first, Mrs. P. L. Strole; second, Mrs. Fred Wertz; third, Mrs. William Schutt. Horticulture, forced branches, first, Mrs. C. K. Parsons; second, Mrs. Fred Wertz; third, Mrs. P. L. Strole.

Speaker for the afternoon was Mrs. P. L. Strole, who spoke on "The Arrival of Spring—Growing Spring Flowers" and "Placement of Material in Flower Arranging."

The Business World

High Goals Make Economic Marks Difficult to Reach

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Consumers aren't spending as much as some economic planners had hoped. And businessmen aren't laying out as much for expansion as had been counted upon when the economic plans for 1962 were drawn.

But the chided parties may resent these complaints a little. They may think they're spending quite a lot under the circumstances.

Many a consumer struggling with the month's bills and his income tax forms may wonder how anyone could figure he could spend more.

And business spending has been going up steadily since the second quarter of 1961. The government says this advance should continue through 1962, and even pick up considerably in the last half of this year.

Considering the excess production capacity in some industries, such gains are viewed by many as impressive.

In any case, the high volume of consumer and business spending spells anything but recession. It seems to, add up, on the contrary, to steady growth.

The trouble seems to lie in the great expectations and high goals for the economy set forth at the start of the year. Government officials insist these goals can still be met, despite a rough winter's onslaught.

Take business spending for new equipment and plant expansion. This hit a record $37 billion in 1957. In the recession year of 1958 it slid to $30.5 billion, climbed to $35.7 billion in 1960, and slumped again last year to $34.4 billion. But in the last three months of 1961 the annual rate was $35.4 billion, and in the first three months of 1962 it is estimated at $36.1 billion.

Both these figures would be reassuring except that in each instance the government had previously predicted spending would be higher.

The latest prediction, based on a survey by the Department of Commerce and the Securities and Exchange Commission, says that the annual rate will rise to $38 billion in the second half of this year, to give 1962 as a whole a record $37.2 billion.

YOU MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS AND NOT KNOW IT

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms... ugly parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it. To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... small, easy-to-take tablets... special sizes for children and adults.

doubt this goal can be reached up the slack in excess production unless consumer spending takes capacity.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: Your letter from Star Gazer probably scored a direct hit on at least one million American homes. Mine was one of them.

I, like Jim's wife, am not "supposed to know what's going on."

But I DO know, and what's more I have known for three years.

Often in your column, Ann, someone asks if she should tell a friend, "as an act of kindness," that her husband is running around. You always say "No."

Carrying such information is not an act of kindness. Mind your own business. I bless you for this advice, Ann. Almost every wife knows—unless she is an imbecile.

At first when I saw them together holding hands, I was numb from the shock. Then the hurt and humiliation set in. After crying my heart out for weeks I decided, for the sake of my sanity, I had to make a tremendous decision. I could confront my husband with the choice (and risk breaking up our home and depriving three lovely children of their father) or I could swallow my pride, play deaf, dumb and blind, and hope the affair would wear itself out.

I know in my heart that I made the right decision. I am living up to my responsibilities even if my husband is not. The point of this letter is to let you know that just because a wife doesn't wear her heartache on her sleeve, and go around town with swollen eyes, doesn't mean she is being fooled. It often means that she has great courage and that she has decided to put first things first.—AWARE

Dear AWARE: I received dozens of letters from readers who have said essentially the same thing, and I have great admiration for all of you.

The letters, strangely enough, were not all from women. Some husbands wrote to say that they had chosen to play the ostrich. A high school teacher from Memphis said "How does a father tell his children that their mother is stepping around with a family friend? Now I know the true meaning of the phrase 'discretion is the greatest part of valor.'"

Dear Ann Landers: My brother's widow moved back to this city and has taken a house about ten minutes from us.

Mabel has an uncanny knack for dropping in on me just as I am leaving to go to the market, the hairdresser or on some neighborhood errand. I always invite her to ride along but she refuses saying she'd prefer to wait in the house.

I always thought this was a little strange and now I know why. My young son was at home the last time she "waited" for me and she was unaware that he was there. He told me later that Aunt Mabel went through all our bureau drawers, that she tried on my hats and shoes and read the mail on my desk.

I resent her snooping more than words can express. In fact,

I am enraged. What should I do about this in the future?

—AWKWARD POSITION

Dear Awk: Simply tell Mabel that you refuse to leave her in the house alone while you go errands because it makes you feel like a poor hostess. Then INSIST that she ride along.

This might be the perfect opportunity to liberate yourself from what I suspect is a chronic pain in the neck. You can suggest that she not drop over in the future without phoning in advance. Too often, good-hearted and gentle people are at the mercy of anyone who has time on his hands and knows how to ring a doorbell.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this Gaylen A. Yeager, Warrensburg, is a member of the Baptist Student Union, Student National Education Association, Industrial Arts Club, Choir and Acacia Fraternity, a social organization.

Allen E. Williams, Warrensburg, is a member of Sigma Tau Gamma social organization and Dorm Scholarship Committee.

These students are among candidates for education degrees at Central Missouri State assigned to assist in 18 different school systems in the district. They are helping regularly employed teachers during a 12-week period. This is the largest contingent of student teachers ever assigned from Central Missouri State.

During the fall term 103 students were assigned to practice teaching and during the winter term 85 had assignments.

Central Missouri State has operated a supervised off-campus teaching program since 1952.

OLDEST BELL? — Robert Cates of McKendree College, Lebanon, Ill., holds miniature of school's chapel bell, recognized by most historians as oldest in the United States. It is believed that bell was originally cast in Spain in the eighth century. Recast, it was bought by school in 1852.

University Women Hear Talk On TV By An Announcer

Gary Pasley was the speaker at the meeting Monday evening, March 5, of the American Association of University Women held at the home of Mrs. Philip McLaughlin, 500 South Grand. His subject was basic changes made since KRCG-TV Jefferson City Television Co., took over the local station.

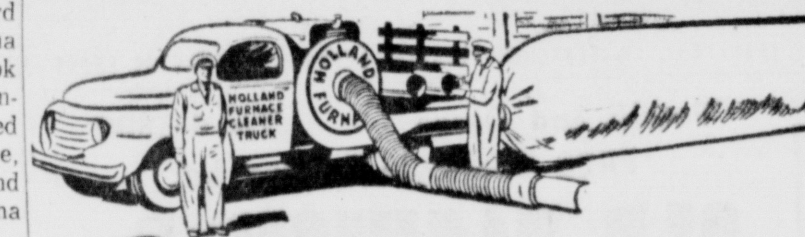

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Joan Brown, president. A silent auction of white elephant articles and baked goods netted a nice sum.

The AAUW plan to have a book sale in April at the home of Mrs. Philip McLaughlin. This will consist of paperback books and all kinds of other books.

The following boys have signed up for the leadership class: Robert Zink, Larry Waisner, Jerry Morris, Ronald Soanka, John Burkey, Lee Flowers, Lawrence Collins, Doyle Waisner and Dale Bersano. A course in leadership and supervision will be given the boys and of this class boys interested in the Boys Club scholarship consideration. A well known instructor will teach the course.

Plans are being made for the Boys Club open house which is scheduled to be held Saturday evening April 7 as National Boys Club Week starts on April 8. Exhibits of the work done by the boys will be on display, also several boxing and wrestling matches, a tumbling exhibition, weight lifting exhibition and several musical numbers which should prove to be a very entertaining evening.

The Sedalia Boys Club is organizing a Greenthumb Troop. The boys who go out all over Sedalia, doing yard work, delivery jobs and car washes. These kids want to work and will be listed at the club and persons having work of this type can call the club and boys will be contacted for these odd jobs. Boys will register with the club fill out proper forms and be available for part time or after school work.

Boys 13 through 17 years of age are well aware of the advantages gained by listening intently, thinking clearly and speaking intelligently. Boys in this age group who are interested in joining Junior Toastmasters Club will contact director of information. The group will open each week meeting with a business session, that follows parliamentary procedures "Table Topics," a discussion revolving around current events will help stimulate a boys thinking on his feet. Next, three members each will deliver a prepared five minute talk which will be followed by a session devoted to constructive criticism. A local instructor will handle the club when registration is complete.

At all times the Boys Club role is to use activities to help Boys grow.

Extension Clubs' Officers Guests at Rotary Meeting

Presidents or their substitutes of the Pettis County Extension Clubs were guests at the Rotary Club Monday noon at Bothwell Hotel and presented the program.

Mrs. Royal Ragar, president of the Pettis County Extension Club Council, expressed appreciation to the Rotary Club for the invitation to attend and present the Rural-Urban program. She then introduced the program chairman, Mrs. Albert Anderson, who announced the theme of the program: "Getting to Know You."

A panel discussion on the Extension Club was given as follows: Mrs. Carl Raines, vice-president of the Longwood Club gave the history of the Extension Clubs; Mrs. William McCune, president of the Manila Club, talked on how programs are planned and carried out in Extension Club work; Mrs. Buell Hoard, president Camp Branch Club, discussed the purpose and functions of the County Extension Club Council and Mrs. Allen Cu-rick, president of the Maplewood Club told of the Young Homemakers' School which is starting its sixth year this week.

Mrs. Raymond Wasson explained Home Economic Family Living, which is a new committee organized this last year with representation from about ten different groups. The purpose is to study various audiences of city and county and determine what phases of Home Economics needs to be presented each year.

A quartette composed of Mrs. John Harvey, Jr., Mrs. Wilford Purchase, Mrs. R. N. Gorrell and Mrs. Eugene Scott, sang: "Let There Be Peace on Earth," the Extension Club song, with Mrs. Ronald Berry as accompanist. All are members of the Elk Fork Extension Club.

Nine women out of the 69 who have completed the tailoring class taught by Miss Opal O'Brian, Extension Home Economist, presented a style show of garments they had made.

They were Mrs. Chester Wissman, Flat Creek Club, who modeled a suit; Mrs. Glenn Miller, South Abell Club, a dress and jacket; Mrs. Otis Thomas, Sunny Side Club, a suit; Mrs. John Butterwick, Camp Branch Club, a walking suit and coat; Mrs. Nolan Gieschen, Smithton Club, a suit; Mrs. Denzil Fischer, Striped College Club, a suit; Mrs. Albert Anderson, Hopewell Club, a walking suit; Mrs. Raymond Wasson, Thursday Club, a suit and Mrs. George E. Williams, Hughesville Club, a coat. The cost of the garments varied from $6.75 to $23.

Miss O'Brian served as moderator.

Members of the Extension Clubs attending were: Mrs. Roy Ragar, Mrs. C. E. Wells, Mrs. Otto Meyer, Mrs. Richard Rice, Mrs. Buell Hoard, Mrs. Melvin Ray, Mrs. Chester Wissman, Mrs. Dewey Swopes, Mrs. Albert Anderson, Mrs. Verner Harms, Mrs. Carl Raines, Mrs. Russell Brantetter, Mrs. William McCune, Mrs. Allen Cusick, Mrs. Leonard DeBord, Mrs. Dale Norfleet, Jr., Mrs. George A. Cook, Mrs. Leslie Powell, Mrs. Arlie Klindworth, Mrs. Glen Miller, Mrs. Robert Poort, Mrs. Denzil Fischer, Mrs. Otis Thomas, Mrs. Ben Townsend, Mrs. Raymond Wasson, Mrs. Buell Maxwell and Miss Opal O'Brian.

The program was sponsored by the Rural-Urban committee of Rotary composed of Del Heckart, chairman, Merle Vaughan, Jake Deck and Oscar DeWolf.

Oscar DeWolf introduced the guests for the day, the Rev. H. U. Campbell, Rotarian, Lexington, and student guests, Gary Wahr-enbrock and Jerry Ray, Smith-Cotton High School.

Keith Yount, vice-president, presided over the meeting and invocation was given by Lawrence Brown.

Sharon Maggard sang a solo accompanied by Penny Nichols.

Offbeat New York

Twist Is a Joke Compared To Belly Dancing Motions

NEW YORK — (P) — To Soraya Melik, a belly dancer from Turkey, "the Twist" is a joke.

Twice a night, six nights a week, the 23-year-old beauty twists more of herself more often and in more directions than the average twister's sacroiliac could stand in a month.

"The Twist is nice," she says. "I do it sometimes on my night off—to relax."

Soraya is one of about 35 girls who undulate nightly in eight off-beat clubs all concentrated in the area of Eighth Avenue and 28th Street in Manhattan. The clubs bear such exotic names as the Port Said, the Istanbul, the Arabian Nights, the Egyptian Garden, the New Life, the Grecian Palace, the Britannia and the Kephisia. The dancers have names to match.

What Westerners irreverently call the belly dance is a respected art form in the east, where it is called anatole dancing. Although it seems to have achieved its present form in the harems, the dance has now been accorded the dignity that goes with age, and Easterners often do it—fully clothed, of course—at social functions.

Many persons of Eastern descent live in the 28th Street area, which is why the clubs provided this sort of entertainment in the first place. More recently, however, other New Yorkers have discovered the spots, and this has caused a mild boom in the sort of bump and grind that went out with the local prohibition of burlesque.

While the clubs welcome the new business, their staple still seems to be the neighborhood trade, including whole families. Consequently, the goings-on are far from the friendly chaos one associates with the strip tease. On the other hand, the dance is hardly puritan.

Clad in costumes that look as if they'll come off any minute (but never do) the girls dance to the accompaniment of undulating Eastern music that progresses from a sensuously slow to an excitingly fast rhythm.

During the 20 minutes or so that a performance takes, the dancer goes through a series of motions that must use every muscle in her body. It's not really a belly dance because everything moves sooner or later—including the arms, the fingers, the head and even the toes.

When it's all over, the dancer looks about ready for two weeks in a rest home, but she's always back in time for the next performance.

What makes a girl become a belly dancer, and where does she learn how?

In Soraya's case (and that's her real name), she learned the steps as a little girl in Ankara, Turkey. Five years ago, she came to the United States and worked as a hairdresser. Then, she says, "I saw so many American girls dancing I thought: 'Why shouldn't a Turkish girl dance?'" So she did.

"I was nervous for a while," she said. "People expected me to strip. I tried to explain that this is an ancient and honorable dance but they still expected me to strip. I wouldn't do that."

"My mother in Turkey is very old-fashioned," continued the ebullient Soraya. "I was dancing for two years before she knew. She knows now, and she's not too happy about it. She wants me to get married and settle down."

You get the idea talking to the dark, curvy dancer that she's not against marriage either.

"No, I'm not married—yet!" she said. "The trouble is, working six nights a week from 9:30 till 4 o'clock in the morning you don't meet many eligible young men."

Does she like show business? "I like it fine, but when I get married it will be up to my husband to decide if I should keep dancing. Like every good Turkish girl, I believe the husband is king."

"I would like to become an American citizen," Soraya said. "But first I want to get married."

New Alumni Organization Being Studied

Former students and friends of Central Methodist College, Fayette, met at Flat Creek Inn on Monday evening, March 12, for the purpose of organizing a local alumni group.

Dr. and Mrs. B. I. Lawrence and Prof. Keith K. Anderson from the college were in attendance with 28 local people.

Abe Silverman presided at a short business meeting at which time Kenneth Buchholz, Mrs. Carl Schrader and Jim Durley were chosen to make plans for future meetings.

Dr. Lawrence spoke on the many changes in the faculty and on the campus since many of those present attended there and told, also, of the excellence of the curriculum.

Mrs. Lawrence showed slides of the campus and all the new buildings which have been constructed in recent years.

The group hopes that the many former students now residing in this area will attend and participate in the next planned meeting.

First Baptist WMU Observes Prayer Week

The WMU of the First Baptist Church observed the Week of Prayer for Home Missions arch 5-9.

Each day a program of prayer and information concerning missionary work in the U.S., Cuba, Panama and Canal Zone was presented by Mrs. J. R. Wallace, WMS prayer chairman. She was assisted by members of the Missionary Society, who told of the building of missions in pioneer areas, juvenile rehabilitation, helping the needy through good-will centers and rescue missions, ministry to the deaf and many other forms of missionary work that is supported by the Annie Armstrong offering.

The organ meditations were given by Mrs. Carlin Pruitt and Mrs. Dean Morton led the group in the call to prayer.

On Wednesday night the auxiliaries of the WMU assisted in presenting the program and a film of home mission work was shown.

In a short business session Thursday, it was voted to send the WMU president, Mrs. R. L. Momborg, as a delegate to the state convention at Springfield, March 28 and 29.

BOYS—HERE'S OPPORTUNITY ON WHEELS —THE SOAP BOX DERBY!

This is a special message to all boys 11 through 15 years of age. It's about the Soap Box Derby coming up this summer. Here's fun and excitement to remember a lifetime—and now's the time to get in on it. The Soap Box Derby is a special competition for boys who build and race gravity-propelled coasting cars. You'll have a ball building a Derby car and driving it in front of the hometown crowd in the local race. And, if you win, you're really in! Honors and prizes include a $500 savings bond from Chevrolet and, best of all, a free trip to Akron, Ohio, to race in the 25th All-American Soap Box Derby on August 4 at Derby Downs. And what a trip! Four fun-filled days of it. You get a champ's royal welcome. Stay at a special camp called Derbytown where you can swim, ride horseback, play ball and other sports. Rub shoulders with other champions from the United States and foreign countries. Meet famous movie and TV stars. All this topped off with the excitement of racing for a share of $30,000 in college scholarships. You're eligible if you will be at least 11 and not over 15 as of August 1, 1962. You couldn't put spare time to better use or have more fun matching your ideas and building and driving skill in competition with other boys. It's easy to enter. Just go with Mom or Dad to the nearest sponsoring Chevrolet dealer's. Sign up, get your free rule book. Start building and you're off on an adventure that just might wind up in the All-American.

Cuban Youth Urged to Go Communist

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro urged young Cubans today to develop a more intense Communist spirit and declared that they will some day live under communism.

The prime minister promised Cuba's younger generations a new society devoid of egotism and individualism. He called on Cuban youth to develop a more intense "Marxist spirit," a more Communist spirit, and said the young of his island nation will some day live "in another more advanced stage, not socialism but communism."

Castro set no date for Cuba to become a Communist state. In a speech last December, in which he publicly identified himself as a Marxist-Leninist, Castro said "there will be no communism (in Cuba) before 30 years."

"We're not inviting anyone to study Marxism," he said, asserting that Cubans have embraced Marxism-Leninism "because the revolution has taught them so, not because anyone imposed it on them."

He said Cuba does not want a young generation that "listens and repeats but a youth that thinks and is not revolutionary by imitation."

Castro addressed the crowd at a University of Havana rally commemorating an abortive student attack against ex-President Fulgencio Batista's palace five years ago. He angrily assailed the deletion of a reference to God in a document read before he took the stand.

The document was the political will of Jose Antonio Echevarria, a revolutionary who died in the uprising. The reading omitted the part in which Echevarria, a devout Roman Catholic, said he and his companions were confident the "purity of our intentions carries the favor of God."

"If this phrase was a religious expression," Castro said, "it does not deprive Echevarria of his glory because it was an expression of rebel sentiment."

"A revolutionary may have faith. All should be united in the fight for national liberation and the sincere Catholic should be on this front."

Castro said those responsible for the deletion were "shortsighted, sectarian and stupid" and guilty of "moral wretchedness."

Castro has assailed priests in Cuba as fascists and expelled many of them, but he maintains that Catholics can support his revolution without giving up their faith. The Vatican has accused Castro, baptized a Catholic, of automatic excommunication by his treatment of the church's bishops and priests.

Juan Marinello, university rector and former head of the Popular Socialist (Communist) party, also addressed the rally.

He said the "defeat of imperialism in Latin America is near and inevitable and the Cuban revolution is responsible for it in great part."

Edward A. Schmidt

Edward A. Schmidt, 79, died at Bothwell Hospital at 8 a.m. Wednesday. He had been a patient at the hospital since Feb. 27.

Mr. Schmidt was born at Hermann, Mo., April 25, 1882, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Casper Schmidt. He lived most of his life in Sedalia and until his health failed had followed the carpenter trade.

He was married at Sedalia, June 25, 1903, to Miss Maggie Ashbrook. They were the parents of three children. Mrs. Schmidt died July 1, 1956.

Mr. Schmidt is survived by two sons, Marion E. Schmidt, 424 East 14th; George L. Schmidt, Palm Beach, Fla.; one daughter, Mrs. Opal Cutler, Springfield, Mo.; one brother, Will Schmidt, 820 West Fourth; two sisters, Mrs. Gertrude Reno, 820 West Fourth; and Mrs. Emma Woodard, Marshall.

Four grandchildren and two great grandchildren also survive.

The body was taken to the Ewing Funeral Home. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Luella Velma Eckerle

Luella Velma Eckerle, 74, resident of Pilot Grove, died Wednesday morning at St. Joseph's Hospital, Boonville, after an illness of three weeks.

She was born Nov. 8, 1887, at Pleasant Green, the daughter of Taylor and Eliza Berry Woolery.

On April 17, 1907, she was married to Henry Eckerle at the Wesley Chapel Methodist Church near Pilot Grove. Mr. and Mrs. Eckerle spent all their lives in the Pleasant Green community, until two years ago when they moved into Pilot Grove.

She was a member of the Pleasant Green Methodist Church.

Survivors are: her husband, Henry Eckerle, of the home; one son, Louis Eckerle, Pilot Grove; five daughters, Margaret Nahler, St. Louis; Luella Parsons, Ft. Worth, Tex.; Enda Brown, Kansas City; Betty Waltz and Henrietta Stalling, both of Independence; eight grandchildren; two brothers, Jim Woolery and Blythe Woolery, both of Pleasant Green; two sisters, Anna Morris, Pleasant Green, and Belle Woolery, Sedalia.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at the Pleasant Green Methodist Church.

Burial will be in the Pleasant Green Cemetery. The body is at the Hays-Painter Funeral Chapel, Pilot Grove, where it will remain until one hour before the service.

Mrs. Hettie A. Brown

Mrs. Hettie Alberta Brown, 90, died Tuesday morning at the home of a niece, Mrs. Lucille Brockman, 415 East Pettis. She had been ill for four and a half years.

Surviving besides the niece are: a nephew, Roy Brockman, Detroit, Mich.; three cousins, Mrs. Ida Mae Marshall, Knob Noster; Arthur Marshall, Kansas City; Mrs. Arzelia Williams, 310 East Cooper; and a number of other relatives.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete. The body is at the Allen and Sons Funeral Home.

Mrs. Mattie Garrett Rites

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Assembly of God Church for Mrs. Mattie Belle Garrett, 78, 1704 East Fifth, who died Tuesday. The Rev. Floyd Buntbach, church pastor, will officiate, assisted by the Rev. Thomas Goulder.

Mrs. W. L. Lewis will sing "Beautiful Isle" and "The Old Rugged Cross," accompanied by Mrs. Clarence Hickman, organist.

Pallbearers will be Wilbur Dittion, G. W. Sommers, Willard Wilcox, C. E. Wilcox, W. E. Blaiser and George Swearingen.

Burial will be in Crown Hill Cemetery. The body is at the McLaughlin Chapel.

Mrs. Anna W. Haase Rites

Funeral services were held at 1:45 p.m. Wednesday at the Fox Funeral Chapel and at 2 p.m. at the Trinity Lutheran Church in Cole Camp for Mrs. Anna W. Haase, 83, Cole Camp resident, who died Monday at the home of a daughter in Kansas City. The Rev. Walter Dierking officiated.

Burial was in Trinity Lutheran Cemetery near Cole Camp.

When completed the trans-Canada highway will stretch 5,000 miles from St. John's Newfoundland, on the Atlantic Ocean, to Vancouver and Victoria British Columbia on the Pacific Ocean.

Hope Fades For Ending 'A' Testing

GENEVA (AP)—Exploratory talks with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in advance of the 17-nation disarmament conference which opened today failed to open up any real hope of concluding a nuclear weapons test ban treaty now U.S. sources said.

They expressed belief, however, that it may be possible to negotiate an agreement with the Soviet Union to block the spread of nuclear weapons in the world and thus make a beginning in bringing the atomic arms race under some control.

Gromyko in the preliminary talks was reported to have stuck to the line that Western proposals for an international inspection system to verify disarmament measures amounts to a demand for espionage rights within the Soviet Union.

The present prospect is that President Kennedy's proposal for a test ban treaty with controls will fall through and that the United States will go forward, as Kennedy has announced, with its series of nuclear tests in the atmosphere beginning in late April.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home, in several sessions with Gromyko, have made no progress toward opening up real negotiations on Berlin either.

Talks on the Berlin crisis will continue outside the disarmament meetings, it was learned.

Rusk and Gromyko will make major policy statements on disarmament Thursday.

As late as Monday, the Russians showed an interest in cutting off the spread of nuclear weapons. Their view was set forth in letters to U Thant, acting U.N. secretary-general.

Lincoln University Students Picket Two Bowling Alleys

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—About 40 Lincoln University students picketed two Jefferson City bowling alleys Tuesday night, seeking to open them to Negroes.

The bowling alley operators had agreed to admit Lincoln students in a bowling league to be set up under sponsorship of the university but the students rejected that offer and went ahead with their picketing. There were no incidents.

Forbes Air Force Base reported no explosion, no fire, no injuries and apparently little damage.

The trouble was at site No. 2 near the town of Worden, 18 miles southeast of Topeka.

Smoke Causes Alarm At Atlas Silo Site

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP)—A smoking motor deep underground touched off a tense alarm Tuesday at an Atlas missile launching silo.

Forbes Air Force Base reported no explosion, no fire, no injuries and apparently little damage.

The trouble was at site No. 2 near the town of Worden, 18 miles southeast of Topeka.

Herman School Bond Issue Downed Again

HERMANN, Mo. — A $400,000 bond issue for school expansion was voted down Tuesday for the second time this year.

The vote was 1,234 in favor and 1,050 against, with a two-thirds majority required. It lacked 288 votes for approval this time against 116 at the election, Feb. 20.

They were a 1960 Chevrolet, driven west on the parking lot by Sharon Matthews, 21, Ottumwa, and a 1960 Oldsmobile, being backed from a parking space by Lewis Loving, 61, Springfield.

The left side of the Chevrolet and the left rear fender of the Oldsmobile were damaged.

Paul Brown, 48, Gravois Mills, received painful but not considered serious injuries in a one-vehicle accident 1.3 miles south of Cole Camp Junction on South Highway 65 about 8:10 p.m. Tuesday.

Brown suffered contusions, abrasions and minor lacerations of the head and scalp.

Brown was brought to Bothwell Hospital in the Fox Funeral Home ambulance, Cole Camp, and treated by Dr. J. L. Watson, Cole Camp. Brown was not admitted.

According to Trooper John Cummings, who investigated, Brown was headed north on Highway 65 in a 1961 Chevrolet pickup truck.

Cummings said the truck ran off the highway on the wrong side, came back across the pavement and struck an abutment, doing minor damage to the front end of the vehicle.

Brown was given a Highway Patrol summons charging him with careless and imprudent driving while drinking, according to Cummings, and is scheduled to appear in Magistrate Court at Warsaw March 21.

The truck was towed to Cole Camp by the WK wrecker of Cole Camp.

Add Custom Styles For Hefty Lady

NEW YORK (AP)—Hattie Carnegie, a custom house which long ago wooed and won the petite, hard-to-fit woman with its famous little suits, today added flabby-armed and broad-hipped women to its fan club, too.

In the spring and summer collection introduced to the fashion press today were sleeveless blouses and dresses made popular by Jacqueline Kennedy. Up to now no woman with knobby shoulders or fleshy arms would dare to wear them.

The Carnegie '62 versions have wide shoulders that are sometimes capped, very often pleated along the armhole to hide a multitude of calorie sins.

Suits, and dresses long and short, camouflage elsewhere by calculating to make the woman look hippy by choice instead of chance. These little Carnegie costumes with broader shouldered jackets are also broader beamed, thanks to an abundance of pleats, gathers and tucks attached to tiny, slightly raised waistlines. The dome-shaped skirt is a favorite silhouette.

Other fashion ideas introduced at the show:

The spare look. Sheaths, sometimes topped by little jackets are long, lean, uncomplicated, belted dresses with low-placed pockets and skirts that widen slightly at the hem.

Dull with bright hues. Gray, dark blue, and beige tweed suits offer shock treatment with bright red, turquoise and orange satin blouses, gathered on the neck.

Funny furs. Beavers were dyed flame red and orange sherbet hues and fashioned into polo coats. Paris couturiere Yves St. Laurent's 10-button pea jacket was copied in Persian lamb dyed a new wheat color that looks wonderful on with red hair.

Twist fit. Cocktail and evening dresses of sheer fabric cut on the bias were tucked diagonally around the body to emphasize bosom and waistline and flare out at the hip.

Back interest. Panels buttoned back to bodices, panels floated from skirt backs; blouses and jackets too dipped from sloped shoulder blades; huge sash tied bustle-style in back; and voluminous trains on evening gowns doubled as shoulder stoles.

Trim. Huge white organdy roses on shocking pink, black fringe on a lot of things, brown on navy blue suits, big, black apples, and black heart-shaped buttons are Carnegie touches which those WAC uniforms designed by this custom house in 1950 never got.

Larry G. Foster, 18, 1800 South Park, and Thomas Lilly, 18, 506 South New York, charged with having possession of intoxicating liquor, pleaded innocent and were found innocent.

James Floyd Bunch, 19, 501 North Prospect, charged with possession of intoxicating liquor and with careless and reckless driving, appeared. He pleaded innocent to the liquor charge, but was found guilty and fined $10. He pleaded guilty to the careless and reckless driving charge and was fined $25.

Alfonzo Faz Mena, Whiteman AFB, charged with careless and reckless driving, pleaded innocent and was found innocent.

Draft Call For 6,000 Men Issued

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department today issued a draft call for 6,000 men in May for the Army.

While this is the same number drafted for March and April, the Pentagon said it will bring to 135,000 men the number called by Selective Service from the beginning of the Berlin crisis military buildup of last August.

"As a result of these higher draft calls, and other personnel actions, the strength objective of the Army including provision for manning the two new Army divisions has now been reached," the statement said.

The Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps do not intend to draw on Selective Service during May.

County burglaries came from the Henry County sheriff, Fairfax said, who notified Fairfax that the men had been picked up in Kansas City, and were allegedly involved in a break-in at a Clinton drug store. Part of the Clinton loot was recovered, Fairfax said.

After conferring with the KCPD, Fairfax said he obtained information that the two men might also be involved in the Pettis County burglaries last weekend. These included the Sedalia Implement Co., the Wayne Richardson Coast-to-Coast Store, and a pizza restaurant on South Highway 65.

Part of the tools allegedly taken from the Sedalia Implement Co. have been recovered and are to be identified by Arlin Joy, a partner in the firm, who is accompanying Fairfax to Kansas City.

Fairfax said he will question the men in Kansas City, and information he has obtained leads him to believe the men also broke into the Richardson store.

As a sidelight to the burglaries, Fairfax said one of the men has admitted the crimes, and stated he committed them to obtain money to pay off a bondsman who went his bond for a crime committed in Johnson County.

Smithton PTA Names New Panel

Mrs. Shelby Kahrs was elected president of the Smithton PTA at the March meeting held in the school auditorium. Other officers elected for the year 1962-63 were: president; Mrs. Ernest Hopper, treasurer. The installation will be held in April.

J. E. Van Dyke, St. Louis, executive director of the Missouri Association for Retarded Children was the guest speaker of the evening.

He presented some interesting and startling facts. He stated that in Missouri alone, there are 130,000 mentally retarded people or one third of the population.

Since the organization of MARC in 1954, he continued, they have worked in behalf of all retarded children to give them appropriate care, treatment and training.

The organization is working toward an important goal: a unit in every county to serve retarded children in Missouri. In spite of an informed public, he said, there are still people who do not believe that the retarded can be trained, educated and rehabilitated.

Van Dyke pointed out that doors are now being opened both ways for the retarded, but there are still locked doors for some.

Cooperation, coordination, communication, a well rounded program for the retarded can realize useful citizens from the once forgotten, rejected child.

Mrs. Melvie Pilcher, special education teacher at Smithton School, presented the program and introduced Mrs. Harold Norton, president of the Central Missouri Association for Retarded Children, who gave a history of the association and its progress in this first year's operation. Parents and interested citizens of Pettis, Benton and Morgan counties, she said, are cooperating in bringing new hope for parents of retarded children.

Prior to the meeting Mrs. Pilcher, assisted by her husband and daughter, guided those attending the PTA meeting around the room in which the special education classes are held, explaining the academic work done by the students and showed the handicraft work so necessary in rehabilitating these special students.

The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. Robert Curtis, president, who presented the names recommended for the officers next year by the nominating committee of which Mrs. Nadine Moore was chairman.

Alfred Lloyd, the superintendent, reported the Pettis-Benton County Vocal Music Festival will be held at Smithton School, March 16, beginning at 7:30 p.m. The admission is 25 cents. The Band Festival at Warsaw March 23 will conclude with a concert in the evening.

Poison Has Many Disguises

There are so many simple safety rules around the house to be concerned with it's a wonder parents have any moment to worry about such things as nuclear war and how to prevent it.

Those with normal inquisitive children know how exhausting it is to keep track of their offspring in a protective way, prevent them from accidental injury inside or outside the home, or worse from eating something poisonous.

All parental education to the contrary, children seem to be the most hard-hearted lot when it comes to obeying safety precautions. Other, of course, than those adult automobile drivers.

There must be general agreement with the axiom that no child is safe in a room by himself, at least not for long. The problem of an industrious housewife is how to keep an eye on her brood and still get the housework done.

Maybe that is why we have such observances as Poison Prevention Week which Missouri Governor John M. Dalton has proclaimed for March 18-24. This will be a reminder for all Missourians to become aware that there are 250,000 products for use in the home which contain one form of poison or another; that 600,000 children manage to poison themselves each year; that 500 of them die. Parents should not think that because something doesn't taste good, a child won't eat it, because we should know a child's inborn curiosity will lead him to sample almost anything, dirt, bugs, paint, detergents, cosmetics, plaster, medicines and thousands of similar items.

Aside from the realm of childhood, National Poison Prevention Week comes at a propitious time for Sedalians, ten days before the city election April 3.

From some of the hot-tempered comments we have been hearing during the primary and since the campaign has leveled off for the general election, the Sedalia atmosphere is laden with no less politically poisonous fall out than that generated by the Russians last year during their nuclear experiments.

On the eve of observing Poison Prevention Week on behalf of protecting our children, we recommend that Mayor Abe Silverman join Governor Dalton in issuing a proclamation urging the political candidates and their supporters to restrain themselves from clouding our community with a poison gas attack which might result in character assassination.

It is well to remember that poisons lurk in a variety of common disguises among which may be included political campaigns.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Rusk Fears an Atomic Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Before Secretary of State Rusk left for Geneva he had a private lunch with members of the House foreign affairs committee, confided to them that he considered his trip almost hopeless. His greatest ambition has been to negotiate a test ban treaty, but so far he has failed.

Rusk did not say so, but it's almost certain that the Russians will begin another series of nuclear tests immediately after the U.S. tests in April are finished. Our intelligence indicates that the Russians have saved some of their big bombs, have them almost on the launching pad, practically ready to go.

A series of big Russian tests, immediately after ours, would have a powerful impact on the neutral world, also would make our NATO allies think twice about risking war over Berlin. It would also put President Kennedy under compulsion to test again—just as soon as possible.

Thus the atomic merry-go-round would go round and round with more and more tests and more and more poison injected into the atmosphere.

Secretary Rusk knows all this, which was why he was pessimistic while lunching with congressional friends.

Note—Rusk's chief hope is to negotiate a U.S. - Soviet agreement to withhold nuclear weapons from nations which don't already have them. This would appeal to the Russians, since they don't want the West Germans to get nuclear weapons. They have also withheld all nuclear arms know-how from the Red Chinese.

Monkey Bachelor Bliss

While the diplomats argue at Geneva and both sides build bigger missiles, Russian doctors have been cooperating closely with American doctors in trying to find the remedies for some of the world's worst diseases.

They have reported on the experiment on heart disease with monkeys conducted near Socchi on the Black Sea.

The monkey is considered the most valuable animal for medical experimentation, since he so closely resembles man. And the Russians, in testing high blood pressure, took a male monkey away from his mate and put him in an adjacent cage.

Then they put another young male in the same cage with his wife, in full view of the rejected husband.

The medical results, however, were negative. Russian doctors reported that the isolated ex-husband seemed to be healthier and happier by himself. His heart and blood-pressure were not affected.

Moscow vs. Peiping

President Kennedy is considering publication of some amazing secret documents regarding the rift between Moscow and Red China. They show that the feud between them goes much deeper than the American public has suspected.

They also show that Khrushchev has had real troubles inside the Communist world, and could be a friend of the United States in any showdown between the West and the Far East.

The question of publishing these documents has been under debate in high administration circles. The White House is inclined to believe that publication might deepen the rift by forcing Communists around the world to choose between Moscow and Peiping.

CIA chief John McCone, however, is opposed.

Note—China is now beaming radio broadcasts in the Russian language to the Soviet Union critical of Khrushchev and his co-existence policies. Believe it or not, the Russians are jamming these Chinese Communist broadcasts even more carefully than ours.

Letter From a Little Boy

Peter Rodino, Jr., 10-year-old son of the Newark, N.J. congressman, who recently wrote a letter to Khrushchev, has written another letter, this one to Kennedy, suggesting that the children of America should begin writing "letters of friendship" to the children of Soviet Russia.

"I remember what you said in your speech," Peter wrote the president. "You said don't ask your country to do something for you, but for you to do something for your country. And I'm trying to do something for my country. This is it."

"I'm asking other children like me to write to other children in Russia and all over the world. We can tell them about America and how we want to help people. In this way the children in other countries will like us and be our friends. I think this will help the world find peace."

"I know you're a very busy man, but I wanted to tell you this so you will tell me what you think."

Geneva-Go-Round

President Kennedy has personally reviewed our nuclear test plans to make sure the fall-out danger will be held to a minimum. Nuclear scientists estimate the American tests will poison the atmosphere one-third as much as the Russians. Kennedy has ruled against building and testing a super-bomb to equal the 58-megaton monster the Russians set off last year. The largest American bomb is only 20 megatons and needs no more testing. . . . The United States will explode some big bombs, however, to test the effects on underground missile sites, also to try out more compact bombs. . . . But the most important project will be the firing of operational missiles which have never been tested with actual warheads. The famed Polaris missile will be launched from under the sea.

The World Today

Two Words Revolve Around Test Talks

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Whether this country makes concessions to Russia at Geneva to get a nuclear test ban treaty revolves around two words: "effective" and "experience."

At previous Geneva talks last April 18 the United States and Britain laid down the basic Western demands. Russia rejected them, offered her own. The West rejected them.

Both sides have stood pat since. Meanwhile, Russia has had a long series of tests. This country, through its scientific instruments far away from those tests, learned a lot about them.

Today a new disarmament conference opened at Geneva. In recent days the Kennedy administration has denied reports it might now demand less than it did in April to get an agreement.

But among the many statements by President Kennedy on the need for a treaty, including a warning this country will resume tests next month unless Russia reaches agreement, two stand out.

1. He said any treaty must be "effective."

2. He said "new modifications (in what has been the basic American position) will be offered in the light of new experience."

An "effective" treaty, from the traditional American view, must contain an inspection system capable of detecting cheating. Russia has refused to accept the kind of inspection this country thought necessary. "new experience" Kennedy mentioned can be interpreted as meaning this country's realization of how much it can learn, from far off, about Russian nuclear capability as revealed in last fall's tests.

When this "new experience" is coupled with "effective" it could mean this country feels now it can settle for an inspection which would be "effective" but less rigid than previously considered needed.

The inspection arrangement laid down last April called for an international team which would:

1. Operate from 180 fixed control posts on land and sea, equipped with instruments to detect illegal testing.

2. Also be free to go into the United States, Britain or Russia to check for suspected violations.

The Russians, while they have always objected to foreign inspectors moving across their country as potential spies, did not say no to any kind of inspection system. They just wanted a kind the West wouldn't buy.

This is why—if the "new experience" has shown that a looser inspection might still be an "effective" one—it is possible this country might feel it could make concessions at Geneva.

If this happens the Kennedy administration, however, will have to do some explaining since it has given no solid indication it had anything like this in mind.

But, if detecting Soviet tests is easier than before, it does not follow that it is easier to detect Soviet preparations for tests it might suddenly spring, provided it wanted to break a treaty.

William C. Foster, chief U.S. negotiator on disarmament, just a few days ago emphasized that the United States is particularly interested in a detection system which would spot preparations for testing.

For months last year, while they went through the motions of negotiating with the West on a no-test treaty, the Russians were busily preparing to test.

This they did suddenly in September in the midst of the negotiations, thus shattering the no-test moratorium which the United States, Russia and Britain had voluntarily undertaken three years before.

This is why Kennedy has said never again on a moratorium; that there must be a treaty agreement not to test.

Prevent Infantile Eczema By Eliminating the Cause

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

There are few sights as distressing as that of an infant with eczema. Local applications do little to relieve the condition and nothing to strike at the basic cause. Therefore we should concentrate on preventing a condition that is much more than a "skin disease" and that may have important after effects.

Here in summary are some of the facts we know about infantile eczema and a few suggestions that may help to prevent the disturbance or relieve the condition once it has appeared:

Infantile eczema is a manifestation of allergy. The skin condition we see is probably only a small part of the allergic disturbance. Like an iceberg, there's more below than above the surface.

Most often, but not invariably, the cause of the allergy is hypersensitivity to cow's milk. You can eliminate that factor by nursing your baby as so many of the best informed mothers now are doing.

You can further diminish the chances for your baby suffering this particular hypersensitivity if, in addition, you eliminate cow's milk and dairy products from your own diet throughout the periods of carrying and nursing. Most especially is this advisable if you have known allergies.

"In order to compensate for deficiencies that may arise as the result of a milk-free diet, you may substitute a soybean emulsion and foods of high calcium (lime) content. Such as shell food, sardines, canned mackerel or salmon, beans, peanuts, broccoli, collards, kale, dandelion greens, spinach, turnip greens, apricots, dates, rhubarb, frozen strawberries, raisins and processed cheeses made from goat milk.

If, despite your best efforts, your milk supply fails, try to find a neighborhood creche where mother's milk is banked or where the services of a "wet nurse" can be obtained.

Once the rash has developed, see your doctor immediately or a baby specialist (pediatric). Most likely, you will be given a formula of soy bean emulsion or one with a meat base as a substitute for cow's milk.

Do not apply anything to the baby's skin except what is prescribed by doctor or pediatric. Over-the-counter "eczema" preparations may contain medicinals to which the baby also is sensitive. You then may superimpose a "treatment dermatitis" on the already inflamed skin.

Dress the baby as lightly as possible using only allergen-free products recommended by your doctor, especially diapers.

"Lord, make me an instrument of your peace; where there is hatred, let me sow love; where there is injury, pardon; where there is doubt, faith; where there is despair, hope; where there is darkness, light; and where there is sadness, joy.

"O Divine Master, grant that I may not so much seek to be consoled as to console; to be understood as to understand; to be loved as to love; for it is in giving that we receive; it is in pardoning that we are pardoned, and it is in dying that we are born to eternal life. Amen."

Looking Backward...

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Dr. J. E. Mitchell, county health physician, stated that there are about 15 cases of scarlet fever, one of diphtheria, and some smallpox in Pettis County. Smelter school, north of Georgetown, has been closed because of scarlet fever. Higgins school, west of Houstonia, is also closed because of illness, not scarlet fever, among the students.

FORTY YEARS AGO

E. G. Bylander, who resigned as secretary of the Missouri State Fair has accepted a similar position with the Arkansas State Fair. He will go to Little Rock to reside and his family will join him there after end of the school term here.

The earliest reference to stamp collecting was in an advertisement in the Times of London of 1841. A young lady, desirous of covering her dressing room with cancelled postage stamps, asked any good-natured person who may have these (otherwise useless) little articles at their disposal to assist her in her whimsical project.

(3) Code of Hammurabi

by Don Oakley and John Lane

In the 19th century, archeologists began uncovering whole civilizations some of whose names even had been forgotten by men—Sumer, Akkad, Elam, Babylon. Because they wrote on lasting clay tablets we know much about these ancient peoples.

In 1902, French excavators brought to light in the ancient city of Susa a huge block of stone over seven feet high covered with thousands of cuneiform (wedge-shaped) symbols. When translated, it began: "Law and justice I established in the land. I made happy the human race in those days."

This was the imperishable monument of Ham-

FOR AN EYE, ANOTHER EYE MUST PAY

THE KING OWES JUSTICE TO ALL HIS LAND

murabi, the first benevolent despot, greatest of the rulers of Babylon, which was the center of the world for over 1,700 years.

The stone dates from about 2200 B.C. and deals with all aspects of life, from rents, contracts and wages to marriage and criminal law. The Code of Hammurabi applied to gentlemen, commoners and slaves. The king was a divine person and priests were set apart. It was often severe: the idea of "an eye for an eye" was still present, but in the case of payment for damages, an aristocrat was equal to two commoners and a commoner to two slaves.

The commoner was a free man, but could be sold into slavery for debt or crime. Appeals could be made to the king, who had the power of pardon. Lawyers were unknown.

The important thing is that these laws, while they reflected long-standing custom, did not come from the people but were given to them. They came down from the gods to the king to the people. But the idea of government owing justice to the people, the idea of crime as a public, not family, affair, and the interpreting of the law by judges had their beginnings here. Babylonian law spread throughout the ancient world and influenced later Hebrew and Greek thought and, in turn, our own.

CAPE GIRARDEAU MISSOURIAN: Why They Litter.—Once upon a time those who did things society disapproved were regarded as wicked, ornery or slovenly. Now it's the fashion to blame the faults of the individual on his childhood, his environment, society—on anything except himself.

A good example is a new theory offered by a sociologist to explain why people disfigure city streets, highways and the countryside with litter. As the sociologist explains it, it's all because of the increasing complexity of modern society, in which the individual "often feels lost and powerless" and loses his sense of social responsibility.

This theory is questionable. It may explain why some are untidy, but not why others are neat. It overlooks the fact that long before society got so complex people were careless about how they got rid of trash. Medieval cities were scarcely garden spots.

The primitive village of today, untouched by civilization's complexities, is no model of tidiness, and the caves of the cavemen must have been worse.

Case In Point

A veteran salesman aboard a plane once was heard to remark: "Nothing happens until somebody sells something."

Let others argue the full case. Suffice it here to note that at least one man, Rep. Thor Tollefson, Republican of Washington state, thinks there is such a thing as selling too much.

Talking to a convention of pen and pencil makers, he suggested that the sale of a billion ballpoint pens a year — five for every American — might be all right if they all held up and were put to good use. But he added:

"What is wrong is the . . . pile of unusable garbage in every desk drawer in America."

Selling loses force when the product quickly winds up in the discard. All makers and sellers of U. S. goods need to remember that quality products are what count.

Television Turns Viewers Into Commercialized Clan

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The alarm went off at 7 a.m. on a Monday morning after a rainy weekend during which the Jones family had stayed, for lack of anything better to do, glued to the television set.

Mrs. Jones sprang from her twin bed, stretched prettily and announced to her husband, "Darling, I slept a full eight hours—and I feel so rested. No sign of sleeping pill hang-over."

Mr. Jones raised a smiling face from his pillow and nodded: "And I feel great. No clogged sinuses, no achy feeling. I guess I won't have to use my nose-o-graph at all this morning. Those 12-way cold capsules with the millions of little time-pills are like magic."

As Mrs. Jones went down to prepare breakfast, her husband dressed. He brushed his teeth three times—once with the paste for people who can't brush after every meal, once with the bacteria-killing paste and once with the paste that holds its full quota of fluoride—and shaved twice—once with the lather that makes every whisker stand up straight and once with an electric shaver to reach his hidden beard.

"Do you notice the delicious tangy aroma released when I pour water in this full, rich instant coffee?" asked Mrs. Jones as her husband sat down at the table.

"Your hands!" exclaimed Mr. Jones in amazement. "However do you keep your hands as moist and soft as they were the day we were married?"

Mrs. Jones ran into the kitchen and returned hugging a plastic bottle.

"It's my wonderful dishwashing detergent, dear," she said. "The sudsing and sudsing are better than a manicure and gone forever—hands—and romance stays."

Their son entered.

"See his shirt," Mrs. Jones continued. "not just clean but clean clear through, whiter than white."

"Sure," said Mr. Jones, "but I notice he's still using that greasy kid stuff on his hair. After all, nine out of ten doctors prescribe the ingredients—no, it's hopeless, we're hooked."

"You mean?" asked Mrs. Jones.

"I mean," said Mr. Jones firmly, "that we've got to stop talking like those television characters."

He put on his hat, tapped it twice, said, "Extra margin," and lit a man's cigarette, taking a long, deep drag while watching his wife with a quizzical look on his handsome face.

It looks now as though "The Gertrude Berg Show" will be missing after April 5—replaced by re-runs of "Zane Grey Theatre"—old Westerns.

Pettis County 4-H Council Meets Tuesday

Eva Neilson, American Field Service delegate from Norway, spoke to the Pettis County 4-H Council Tuesday at the County court house. The Norwegian Senior Day was of special interest to the students of the council. The seniors stay up all night and at six o'clock in the morning they run through the town and wake up their teachers.

President Carol Brandhorst appointed several committees. On the 4-H award committee are, Mrs. H. P. Hutchinson, Mrs. H. H. Nutt, Mrs. Leonard DeBord, Mrs. Carl Raines, Mrs. William T. Reid and Mrs. Cloyce Wilson. On the Share-the-Fun committee are Mrs. Ted Dabner, Mrs. Byron Oswald and Mrs. Quinton Binder.

The Room Improvement committee consists of Mrs. Charles Callis, Mrs. Bruce Claycomb and Mrs. Jack Alfrey.

In the National 4-H Club committee report, Mrs. A. E. McKamey gave publicity suggestions to the clubs for National 4-H Club Week. Mickey McKamey reported on 4-H Fun Nights which were March 9 for ages 12 and under and on March 23 for ages 12 and over.

Mrs. Lewis Hammond, Jr. of the Longwood Extension Club, presented a gavel to the council.

Janice Rundlett was elected song leader as a replacement for Florence Arnold.

Miss O'Brian informed the council that the Extension Office name has been changed to the Pettis County University Center.

Buffaloes, 'Cats Each Win a Berth

By SKIPPER PATRICK
Associated Press Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY — The champion Colorado Buffaloes, who had the only unanimous selection in sharp shooter Ken Charlton, and the runner-up Kansas State Wildcats each won two berths on the Associated Press Big Eight Basketball All Stars it was announced today.

Wilky Gilmore, Colorado's 6-5 senior from New Canaan, Conn., was the other Buffalo gaining first team honors.

Kansas State, which won or shared the title four straight seasons before losing the crown and NCAA spot to Colorado, scored on the all star team with Mike Wroblewski and Pat McKenzie, both seniors from South Bend, Ind.

Jerry Gardner, of the Kansas Jayhawks, a 5-11 senior from Wichita, earned the other first-team position. Gardner won the conference scoring crown with a 20.3 average for the 14-game league season.

Charlton, a 6-6 junior from Denver, was edged out of the Big Eight scoring title on a 19.4 average, but was tops in all games played with a 20.4 per game production. He was the clutch man in most of Colorado's great driving finishes.

Wroblewski, 6-8, who tied the Big Eight scoring record of 46 points in a game against Kansas, averaged 18.1 in the league and 18.9 for the season. He had 231 rebounds in all games.

McKenzie was especially tough under the boards, getting 234 rebounds for the season and 127 for the 14 conference games. He averaged 12 points in the league and 11 for the campaign.

Gilmore, a cool and rugged competitor, averaged 13.7 in conference play, 12.6 for the season and made 143 rebounds.

Vinnie Brewer, Iowa State's 6-3 junior from New York, won the rebounding crown with 132 captures in 14 Big Eight tilts and 247 in 25 overall outings. His scoring average was 13.2 points in the conference and 13.7 for the season.

Brewer shared berths on the second all-star unit with Cecil Epperley, Oklahoma State senior; Tom Russell, Nebraska senior; Ken Doughty, Missouri junior, and Nolen Ellison, Kansas junior.

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

It has taken Mgr. Bob Scheffing of the Detroit Tigers just four days to figure out the club's main strength if it is going anywhere in the American League pennant chase this year.

Just as in the 1961 season, the Tigers are going to rely on their hitting punch to pull them over the humps. Last year the Bengals led the league in batting with a .2663 average compared to .2661 for Cleveland.

They also produced the league's two top hitters, Norm Cash at .361 and Al Kaline at .324. Also around was Rocky Colavito, who had 140 runs batted in and 45 home runs.

Now, in four exhibition games, the Tigers have clubbed 46 hits, an average of more than 10 a game and enough to put fear into any pitcher's heart.

The Tigers won their third in four games Tuesday, polishing off the St. Louis Cardinals 7-1 at St. Petersburg, Fla. They broke the game open with five runs in the seventh inning. Four of them came as a result of home runs by pinch hitter Bubba Morton and rookie Fernal Gandy.

Scheffing also had good reason to be satisfied with his pitching. Lefty Hank Aguirre and a couple of rookies—Bob Dustal and Joe Grzenda—held the Cards to eight scattered hits. The only bright spot in the day for the Cards was a good two-inning job by Ernie Broglio, who was hampered by arm trouble all last year after winning 20 games in 1960.

The Los Angeles Dodgers, Chicago Cubs, Chicago White Sox, and Cincinnati Reds also won their games using home runs as the big blows.

The Dodgers clobbered the Milwaukee Braves 10-5 at Bradenton, with the Davis boys, Tommy and Willie, batting in seven runs with homers. Tommy's was a grand-slam job, and Willie's came with two on.

Rookie Ken Hubbs, Ernie Banks and George Altman all homered for the Cubs in a 12-7 triumph over the San Francisco Giants at Phoenix. Seven of the Cubs' runs were unearned as a result of five Giant errors. Felipe Alou and rookie Manuel Mota homered for the losers. Mota's was his third in all games.

Floyd Robinson had a three-run homer that provided the difference in a 5-2 White Sox decision over the Philadelphia Phillies at Clearwater. He also whacked a couple of doubles and a single.

Jerry Lynch and Vada Pinson hit solo homers in Cincinnati's 4-3 victory over Baltimore in a night game at Miami.

The world champion New York Yankees won their fourth straight without a loss, defeating the Minnesota Twins 4-2 at Fort Lauderdale. The Yanks now are the only major league club that hasn't lost an exhibition game. Ralph Terry and Bill Stafford combined for a four-hit pitching performance.

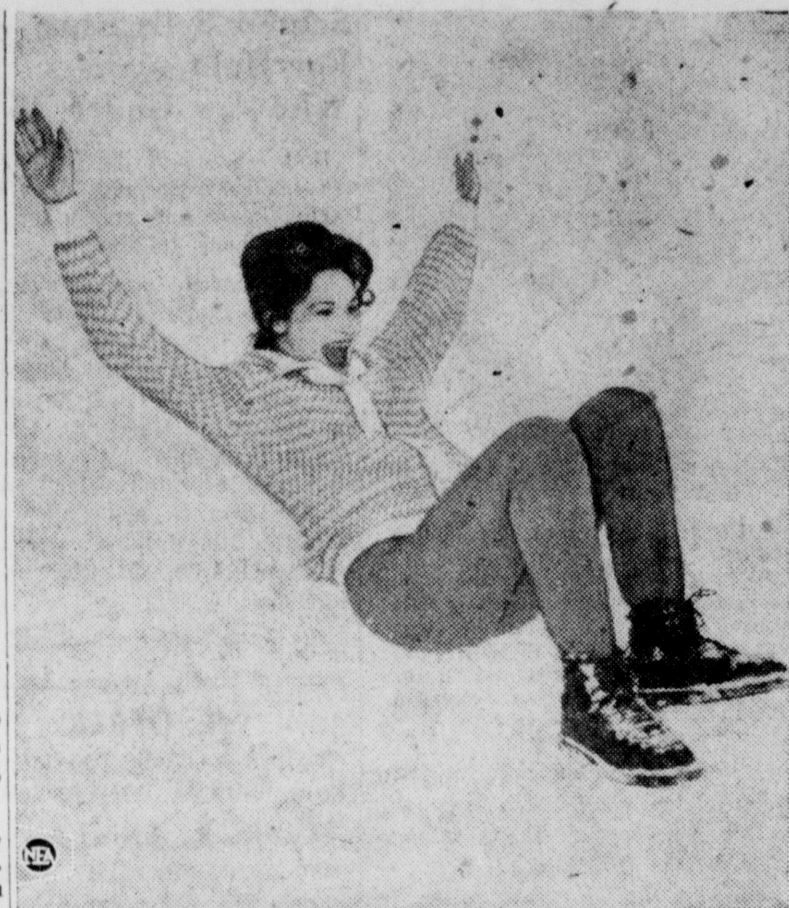

The New York Mets — the Amazin' Mets now — won their third straight, racing past the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Roger Craig and Evans Killeen at Fort Myers.

The Houston Colts, the other new National League team, won their first game, beating Cleveland 2-1, with Jim Embright, Jim Golden and Manuel Montejito handling the pitching chores. Don Schwall and Dave Busby, Boston's University of Oklahoma pitching whizzes, tossed three scoreless innings each in the Red Sox' 3-2 victory over the Los Angeles Angels at Palm Springs, Calif.

The Kansas City A's won their third straight, defeating the Washington Senators 5-1.

IN ORBIT—Without a hoof touching the ground, Royal Coin soars across the finish line a winner at Hialeah, Fla., with jockey John Ruane at the controls. Mister Grock, right, was third.

INSIDE, OUT—Karen Dolin takes the easy way out as she slides down a slope at the Mt. Rose Ski Bowl in Reno, Nev., on the seat of her pants. Now, ski here, young lady.

from the local area jammed the Broadway Lanes to watch the exhibition game as well as to watch the bowling clinic provided by the visiting stars, and they had a well outlined program to entertain the large turnout.

Immediately following the three game bowling match against five local leglers, the "stars" entertained everyone with an array of fantastic trick shots. Such shots as rolling the ball between the legs of two men and picking up the 5-7-10 split, converting the 7 pin spare on one lane and the 10 pin spare on another lane at the same time and with one ball, hooking the ball around a man standing on the lanes and making different types of spares and many other shots too numerous to mention.

In the match games their bowling skill really stood out as the following scores will indicate:

Tournament Will Begin For Bowlers

The Sedalia Women's Bowling Tournament will get under way starting this Saturday, March 17, at Hillcrest Lanes, according to Donna Heembrock, city secretary. The team event will be bowled the first week end followed by the doubles and singles, March 24 and 25. This year the tournament has been split with the team event being held at Hillcrest Lanes and the doubles and singles going to Broadway Lanes.

A record breaking entry has been turned in this year. There are 83 teams, 113 doubles and 226 singles entered. This includes teams from Broadway Lanes, Sedalia Lanes, Whiteman Air Force Base Lanes and Hillcrest Lanes.

Out to defend their title will be Connor-Wagoner team from the Broadway Owls league. They came out victorious last year with a 2980 series.

The ladies will be attempting to beat the 1290 series bowled by Nan Newman and Donna Heembrock, winners of the doubles event last year. Hard to beat will be the 699 series shot by Barbara Doty, who took first place in the singles.

Bobbie Poundstone will be back trying to make it two in a row for the All Events award she took home last year.

The prize list has been drawn up by Mary Scott, Effie Mosier, Mildred Peters and Emilie Brunjes.

Edith Simon, Alice Morris and Dorothy Hopkins selected the trophies.

Utah State, Oregon State Battle Tough Opponents

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP)—Utah State and Oregon State battled past tough opponents Tuesday night to advance to Far West NCAA playoffs at Provo Utah.

Utah State fought off a strong Arizona State rally in the closing minutes to get a 78-73 victory, but the real cliff-hanger came in the night's second game, when Oregon State took a 69-65 overtime win over Seattle.

Oregon State will meet Pepperdine Friday night and Utah State will play UCLA.

Hank Bauer's Manager Job Is Insecure

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Of all the managers' jobs in the major leagues, that of Hank Bauer of the Kansas City Athletics is the most insecure.

The accent is on youth in the A's camp as owner Charles Finley embarks on a "three-year first division plan." Bauer's chief duty is to teach youngsters in the hope that they develop into major leaguers in three or four years. At the same time, he is expected to lift the club out of the cellar, where it finished last season.

Bauer who took over as A's manager last summer after Joe Gordon was fired, knows he has a tiger by the tail but he is determined to hang on.

"I'm going to do the best I can," he said. "I'm not making any promises to anybody except that we will have a fighting, hustling ball club. I don't know how good they're going to be, but they'd better give me 100 per cent. If they don't I'm gonna get rid of 'em."

"Let's not kid ourselves. You can't expect much in one year. I'll settle for a climb of a notch or two. But by next year, we should move up to about sixth or seventh and in 1963 or '64, we should be knocking on the first division door."

"This is an ambitious program that Mr. Finley and Pat Friday (general manager) have undertaken. I'm all for it. After six or seven years of empty promises to Kansas City fans, we're finally doing something constructive. They've come up with some good looking kids. Only they can't stop here. They've got to keep getting them until we're on a par with the other clubs. And we've got to have patience. This goes for the front office as well as for me."

Only in the infield do the A's resemble a major league club. Bauer thinks Norm Siebern at first, Jerry Lumpe at second, Dick Howser at short and Wayne Causey at third are equal to any infield in the American League.

"Lots of people don't know that our infield had the highest composite batting average in the majors," Bauer said. "It averaged .286."

Bauer's biggest problem is in the outfield. By process of elimination, the right and center field jobs have gone to veterans Gino Cimoli and Bobby Del Grecco, respectively. Neither was a ball of fire last year.

Left field is up for grabs. Such worthies as Manny Jimenez, Jose Tartabull, Leo Posada, Bill Lajoie, Frank Cipriani and 19-year-old John Wojcik are competing for the post. Gene Stephens, who might have won the position, has a bad shoulder and will be placed on the ineligible list. Bauer currently favors Wojcik, who batted .320 at Visalia, Calif., last year, his first in pro ball.

Hank also is considering converting infielders Ed Charles to the outfield. Charles is fast, has a good pair of hands and batted .305 at Vancouver last year. He was acquired, along with Jimenez and catcher Joe Azcue, from Milwaukee in exchange for pitcher Bob Shaw.

"Last year we had no one who could catch a fly ball in the outfield, except for Del Grecco," said Bauer. "And except for Siebern, we had no one who could hit the long ball. If I had a couple of guys who can hit me a few home runs, I'd take a chance on my young pitchers. We've got pretty fair speed. And Cimoli and Del Grecco ought to catch a few balls in the outfield. We won't be embarrassed. In fact, we should be a little better than last year, if only for one reason. Last year's kids have one full year under their belt. Howser, Causey, and our young pitchers Norm Bass, Jim Archer and Bill Kunkel, should be better."

Bauer named Jerry Walker, Art Ditmar and Ed Rakow, along with Bass and Archer, as his starters. Kunkel, Dave Wickersham and Dan Pfister will be in the bullpen. The most impressive of the newcomers have been John Wyatt (9-3 at Portsmouth), Bob Colligan (12-8 at Lewiston) and Ken Sanders (13-8 at Portsmouth).

Bauer made no mention of Lew Krausse, the $125,000 bonus boy who probably will be pitching at Binghamton this summer.

Jimmy Dykes Authority On AL History

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—Jimmy Dykes should be the greatest living authority on the American League. He played in the league from 1918 through 1939 and managed or coached teams in it from 1934 through 1960 with a couple of side excursions to the minors and the National League.

Back in the National League as a coach under Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Milwaukee Braves Dykes at 65 is free to say anything he wants about the American League. As he managed Cleveland and Detroit in his most recent tours of duty, his opinion on their chances of beating the New York Yankees should be enlightening.

"There is nothing close to the Yankees," said Jimmy. "They say they don't have any shortstop with Tony Kubek in the Army but there isn't any shortstop in the league better than (Tom) Tresh and (Phil) Linz."

"Detroit has got to be the best of the rest. They should give the Yankees their toughest battle. The Tigers have pitching with (Frank) Lary, (Jim) Bunning and (Don) Mossi. Maybe (Paul) Foytack will come through for them. I am afraid Sam Jones won't be as much help as they hope for."

"That (Norm) Cash is a real good hitter. Maybe he won't hit .361 again but he'll be up there. Did you know I was the guy who put him on first base? We got him right here in this park. Runt Marr, who was scouting for Cleveland, came to me and said Frank Lane was worried about his infield and wanted a fellow we had, Steve Demeter. We made the deal the next day. Demeter for Cash. A pretty fair deal for Detroit. He is a long ball hitter in a perfect park."

"Cleveland could have some real good pitching with (Gary) Bell, (Barry) Latman, (Jim) Perry and (Dick) Donovan. They have a young kid, Sam McDowell, who looks like a real good one. He shut out Baltimore last year for 6 1-3 innings until he broke two ribs in his right side while pitching."

"The Indians lack power. Of course, Willie (Kirkland) will hit some out of the park. They'll miss the fellow in center field (Jimmy) Piersall, traded to Washington). Young Ty Cline can handle center defensively but can he hit enough? Tito (Francona) is consistent but Woody Held is erratic."

The Sedalia's jumped to a 26-13 lead in the first quarter and were never in any trouble holding on to a substantial lead through the next three quarters.

Scoring for the Auto's was by Charlie Newman 27, Jim Gladbach 17, Russ Robinson 20, Gary Bryan 22, Jim Bus 4, Jim Fall 24, Roy Schnakenburg 10, for the 124 total. For Brumley, Robbins 4, Strange 17, Irvin 14, Phillips 2, Whittle 6, Thompson 8, Ash 9, R. Wittle 4, Blue 4, and Littered 2, for the 70 points.

Sonny Meyers Victor Over Buddy Austin

Sonny Meyers, an old Sedalia favorite in the wrestling ring, came through Tuesday night to beat Buddy Austin in the main event on the Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion, wrestling card. But it wasn't until after a hectic half hour of Texas rules wrestling had been completed, then the Indian leg lock was used to put the finishing touches to the last fall.

Meyers took the opening fall after 15 minutes and three seconds with the alligator clutch hold and press. Then the second fall was won by Austin who had roughed up Meyers, then made a leap from the top of the ropes to Meyers mid-section, followed by a press. Time of the second fall was six minutes and 49 seconds.

Meyers and Austin really roughed things up in the final period, and after six minutes and 35 seconds rolled by Meyers got his Indian leg lock and Austin submitted for the fall.

The semi-final match was anything but a children's picnic as Lee "Bulldog" Hennings teamed up with Stan Stasiak against the two Frenchmen, Maurice La Pointe and Marcell Dupont in a team tag event. The Frenchmen took the first fall when Hennings and Stasiak were disqualified by the referee after 14 minutes and 13 seconds. Hennings proved the win for the second fall when he squeezed Dupont into submission after 10 minutes and 54 seconds.

La Pointe applied the Boston crab on Stasiak to win the fall in four minutes and 55 seconds.

In the opening event Stasiak beat La Pointe in seven minutes and 12 seconds for the one-fall 15-minute time limit match. He used a knee lift and body press to win.

The special event between two newcomers of the midwest class, provided some exciting moments as Pee Wee Lopez won over Little Boy Blue in 12 minutes and 11 seconds using the Boston crab hold.

Twin Groves 4-H Holds Dinner Meet

The Twin Groves 4-H Club met recently at the Oak Grove Community Hall with a basket dinner. Posters will be placed in several local stores for National 4-H Week.

Four visitors and six parents were present for the dinner with eight members also present. The usual business meeting followed with a committee elected for planning Rural 4-H Week. Mrs. Rodick gave a report on the sewing and home grounds projects. The members took part in games.

Young Burglar Working Way Through School

GREENVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Don Allen Elliott, 23, arrested with three others Tuesday on burglary charges, was quoted as saying he was "just working his way through college."

Dist. Atty. Cameron McKinney said Elliott, of Dallas, and Talmadge Hedrick Jackson, 19, of Killeen, Tex., were students at East Texas State College. He said the other two accused of burglary, Robert Stanley Box, 18, of Denison, Tex., and James Lee McKinney, 18, of Dallas, were students at Paris (Tex.) Junior College.

The district attorney said statements by the four cleared up 17 burglaries, 10 cases of theft, and 35 cases of breaking and entering coin-operated machines.

Fifth Death Results From Smallpox Cases

CARDIFF, Wales (AP) — A Glamorgan County man, Trevor Thomas, 49, died of smallpox Tuesday, bringing the death toll in the spreading South Wales epidemic to five. Two new cases brought the total confirmed and suspected cases in Welsh hospitals to 23.
